With the blessings of Poojya Dr.Sharanabasappa appaji and in the August presence of Shri Basavaraj Deshmukh sirji Today Sharanabasaveshwar college of Science Kalaburagi. Under IQAC initiative and department of chemistry organized one day Webinar on “Coordination Chemistry of Metal Complexes” Now a days, Coordination complexes are so pervasive that their structures and reactions are described in many ways, sometimes confusingly. The atom within a ligand that is bonded to the central metal atom or ion is called the donor atom. Today with us eminent resource person of Coordination Chemistry of Metal Complexes they have received our invitation and accepted.

A Brief Introduction on “Coordination Chemistry of Metal Complexes “

A coordination complex consists of a central atom or ion, which is usually metallic, is called the coordination centre, and a surrounding array of bound molecules or ions, that are in turn known as ligands or complexing agents. Many metal containing compounds, especially those of transition metals (d block elements), are coordination complexes. Coordination complexes have been known since the beginning of modern chemistry. Early well-known coordination complexes include dyes such as Prussian blue. Their properties were first well understood in the late 1800s, following the 1869 work of Christian Wilhelm Blomstrand. Blomstrand developed what has come to be known as the complex ion chain theory. Danish scientist Sophus Mads Jørgensen made improvements to it. In his version of the theory, Jørgensen claimed that when a molecule dissociates in a solution there were two possible outcomes: the ions would bind via the ammonia chains Blomstrand had described or the ions would bind directly to the metal. It was not until 1893 that the most widely accepted version of the theory today was published by Alfred Werner. Werner's work included two important changes to the Blomstrand theory. The first was that Werner described the two possibilities in terms of location in the coordination sphere. He claimed that if the ions were to form a chain, this would occur outside of the coordination sphere while the ions that bound directly to the metal would do so within the coordination sphere.

Coordination compounds are a major feature of the chemistry of over half the elements. Coordination compounds have important roles as industrial catalysts in controlling reactivity, and they are essential in biochemical processes. In this view of wide applicable coordination chemistry in the field of research now a day's most important and beneficiary to the society.

President of the webinar our beloved Principal

Dr.R K Shikkargol

4. If the complex is anionic i.e. containing cation and anionic complex; then the cation (+ve) is named first followed by full name of anion. The name of cation and anion are separated by space. Ex: 1. $K_4[Fe(CN)_6]$; Potassium hexacyanoferrate(II)

2. $K_2[PtCl_6]$; Potassium hexachloridoplatinate(IV)

5. If the complex is cationic i.e. containing cationic complex and anion; then give full name of cationic complex, then name of anion outside the square bracket.

Ex: $[Co(NH_3)_6]Cl_3$; Hexaamminecobalt(III) chloride

6. If the complex is Non-ionic Complex, the complexes are given a one word name.

Ex: $[Co(NH_3)_3Cl_3]$; Triamminetrichloridocobalt(III)
